Built Heritage Investment Scheme 2022

It was another successful year for grant projects funded under the Built Heritage Investment Scheme. The Built Heritage Investment Scheme is funded by the Department of Housing, Local Government and Heritage and is administered by the Councils Architectural Conservation Officer. The fund assists with works to safeguard protected structures and, in certain cases, works to structures within Architectural Conservation Areas, and to support the employment of skilled and experienced conservation professionals and tradespeople.

The allocation for South Dublin County Council under the scheme for 2022 was €96,000. South Dublin County Council invited owners of Protected Structures and buildings within Architectural Conservation Areas to apply for funding during January 2022. Seven projects have been completed this year with projects ranging from roof repairs, repairs to original timber sash windows, repairs to original boundary walls and gate piers. Rathfarnham Parish Church was provided with grant funding for repairs of the church organ. Funding was also provided for the repair and restoration of the original wrought iron gates at Ely Gate (Dodder Arch) which is a landmark structure and set within public open space.

The total cost of the works completed under BHIS projects for 2022 amounted to €179,112.57 with €126,794.60 in private leveraged funds. 317 days of employment were created which included the engagement of specialist roofers, specialist joiners, stone masons, wrought iron specialist and a master organ builder.

Provision of new bike parking

The Council has been actively progressing the installation of new Bike Parking across the County and in 2022.

We have had another successful year with bike parking been well used at our public parks, schools, and sports clubs across South Dublin and this year we have provided 500 additional bike parking spaces. We are delighted to say that the usage at schools such as Firhouse Community College, Templeogue College, St Mac Dara's, St Annes GAA Club has been exceptional to the point that we added further capacity at these locations to cater for the demand.

We are now preparing to commence the next stage of bike parking provision in early 2023. As part of this phase we will have Bike Shelters on offer alongside Sheffield Stands and Bike Repair Stations for which the demand is already high. Our Active Travel website has a GIS maps page which pinpoints the locations of all our Bike Parking. We continue to work on and create the environment that will provide bike parking facilities across South Dublin and enable people to make more choices on cycling to their destination.

Light Segregation Active Travel Schemes

There are several cycle lanes on existing roads across the County. Much of these are defined by solid or advisory lines, and whilst this is helpful in reminding vehicles to be careful, enhanced measures can provide additional safety for cyclists, making cycling a safer option for people.

The Council is installing bollards and bolt down kerbs in a number of locations across the County. These measures provide increased segregation and will encourage potential or hesitant cyclists to use the network as a preferred mode of transport. The transport team have identified several locations across the County including at Taylors lane, Doddsborough Rd, Ballyowen Rd and Rathfarnham Rd.

It is anticipated that additional funding will be provided by the National Transport Authority in 2023 to enable the further roll out of these light segregation measures in suitable locations across the county.

Estate Enhancement Works in MacUilliam and Balgaddy

Calisthenic equipment has recently been installed on the open green space located between Meile an Rí and Tor an Rí. The Estate Management team arranged for pupils from Balgaddy Senior National School to visit Tymon Park where they were given a demonstration on how to use the equipment. The pupils and teachers were so impressed, that they are now planning to include Calisthenics as part of their PE curriculum.

In consultation with the resident's association, the soft play area in the Mac Uilliam Estate was removed and replaced with a 'Trim Trail' that runs around the circumference of the park to encourage residents to engage in physical activity. Estate Management have also funded the planting of new mature trees and bulbs in the open green spaces.

We have recently completed the external painting of homes at the entrance to Mac Uilliam which has improved the overall appearance. There are plans to extend the programme in 2023 to other areas within the estate. Funding for the Calisthenic equipment in Balgaddy and Trim Trail in MacUilliam were provided under the Sláintecare initiative.

Rowlagh Reads Roddy Nov / Dec 2022

National Ploughing Championships

South Dublin County Council's Local Enterprise Office (LEO) were delighted to be represented by Lucy & Me at the annual National Ploughing Championships, held in Ratheniska Co. Louth

Lucy & Me were joined by a host of well-known faces who dropped into the Local Enterprise Village across the three days, including An Tanaiste, Leo Varadkar, US Ambassador to Ireland, Claire Cronin, Minister of State Damien English, Newstalk's former Dragon, Bobby Kerr and RTE's Anne Cassin. They all had the chance to meet with Sarah Power from Lucy & Me, the children's furniture company from LEO South Dublin where there was great interest and excitement around her innovative range of products.

For Sarah, this was her company's "first time at the Ploughing Championships, and we were blown away at the scale of the event and the level of visitors to the LEO Showcase".

LEO Clients Product Christmas Photoshoots

The Local Enterprise Office facilitated a photoshoot for clients to update their portfolio and website leading up to the all-important Christmas period. Over 25 clients embraced the opportunity to get updated professional photos taken of their products.

These photos will be used to showcase the incredible food and craft products produced in the county. A number of clients from professional and consultancy services also availed of this to update their portfolio and personal branding. The photos will be used across their websites and social media platforms.

Rowlagh Reads Roddy

Rowlagh Reads Roddy – is an inter-generational, community reading event similar to the One City, One Book but with a twist. The idea behind it is that the whole community of Rowlagh will be reading Roddy's books at the same time. The adults will read his works for adults and the children will be reading his books for children. Rowlagh is an area of deep socio-economic disadvantage, but the community here is amazingly resilient and faces its challenges with courage and good humour.

We have been organising a series of events in the area – book club discussions, art workshops and much more – in local schools and community centres, Men's Sheds, and other locations. The icing on the cake will be a visit from the man himself!

Roddy has availability in his calendar to visit NCL on Friday 2nd December. We can ensure a warm welcome from this community.

To highlight this event, we have been popping up around the locality when least expected, taking pictures of members of the community with a Roddy Doyle book in hand!

Locals have been looking out for themselves on South Dublin Libraries social media pages and we anticipate they will join us on 2nd December – where they will get to meet Roddy himself in a relaxed environment and also enjoy refreshments and some live music from The Commitments movie.

1,200 Trees planted in Mini Woodland at Mill Lane, Palmerstown

On Wednesday 23rd November 2022 a large group of local community volunteers, local schools, staff and clients of Stewarts Hospital, Public Realm staff and corporate volunteers joined Mayor, Cllr Emma Murphy to plant a Mini-Woodland in Mill Lane Park. The schoolchildren and their teachers from St Lorcan's Boys National School also gave great assistance in distributing the trees for planting all around the site and telling people the names of the plants. 20 staff who had volunteered from Ernst and Young were busy digging holes and planting. Members of the Dodder Action Group and Stepping-Stones Forest group, who are experienced in the planting technique, distributed tools, and oversaw the event.

The staff and clients of Stewarts hospital and local residents worked tirelessly to get all the planting done along with staff from SDCC Public Realm Section, who had co-ordinated the event, provided the plants and ensured that the volunteers were all well looked after.

Everyone recognises that tree planting is a key measure in addressing climate change and tree-cover targets are rightly ambitious. The mini woodlands technique SDCC is implementing grows trees at 10 times the normal rate with an estimated 20 to 100 times more biodiversity and 40 times more carbon absorption that previous planting techniques. They are highly effective in terms of improving biodiversity as you can achieve the ecological diversity of a 100-year-old woodland in just 10 years.

This programme helps SDCC achieve our tree planting targets and gives community groups a great opportunity to participate in direct Climate Action.

The planting of mini- woodlands, which is an objective of the County Development Plan, will be continued in parks,

Major Emergency Management in South Dublin

South Dublin County Council has an ongoing Major Emergency Management (MEM) programme in place to set out common arrangements and structures for front-line public-sector emergency management in Ireland. This is based on the internationally recognised systems approach that, proposes a cycle of continuous activity through five stages of emergency management: Hazard identification; Mitigation; Preparedness; Response; and Recovery.

The Major Emergency Plan (MEP) has been prepared by SDCC to facilitate the response & recovery from major emergencies, and to coordinate with the other two designated Principal Response Agencies: The Health Service Executive (HSE) and An Garda Síochána. (Dublin Fire Brigade are considered a PRA as part of the Local Authority). SDCC and other Local Authorities comprising, Dublin City, Dun Laoghaire-Rathdown, Fingal, Kildare, and Wicklow, are part of the Eastern Region MEM Group, which meets regularly for further coordination.

The Major Emergency Plan includes sub-plans such as Flood Emergency Plans and Severe Weather Plans which outline mobilisation procedures and regional coordination protocols for responding to challenges presented by an Irish winter. The plans are supported by SDCC's Severe Weather Assessment Team (SWAT) – this group, comprised of senior operational personnel, meet to assess preparedness for a given weather event (a status orange, or above, weather warning) and agree appropriate actions, including informing the public via social media and other platforms.

Major Emergencies are very rare events, but you can take steps to feel as safe and secure as possible. For more info on how to cope with an emergency, visit:

The annual budget of South Dublin County Council represents the cost of providing an extensive range of public services and supports to our resident population of 300,000, the many commuters who traverse our county daily, business and tourist visitors and over 7,000 business entities.

In addition to current services, it also provides an opportunity to provide funding for future infrastructural needs to support a growing population.

The 2023 Budget adopted by the elected members amounts to €306m. This is funded from a variety of sources including local property tax, rents, government grants and most importantly commercial rates, which amounts to €143m or 47.5% of total income.

In preparing and adopting the budget, the elected members were conscious of the economic context, which while having moved beyond COVID, is nevertheless heavily influenced by residual issues around economic disruption, which have been compounded by the Ukrainian war, the continuing fallout from Brexit and world events. In this context the key facets of the budget include:

- Having regard to current challenges for business and households, there are no increases proposed for local property tax, rates, or rents.
- The retention and continued investment in front line services to cater for our ever-increasing population and expanding communities. In this regard €10m additional funding has been provided to underpin frontline services. Among the most recognisable of these include €111.8m on housing services, including €17.6m to maintain our 10,000 public homes. We will spend €19.2m on the local road network, €23.2m on fire services, €25.3m on maintaining our parks and public areas, €13.2m on street cleaning and litter management, €6.2m on keeping 30,000 public lights maintained and lit, €14.4m on water services, €9.8m on planning services and €3.5m on community grants and support schemes.

- We aim to continue and expand our proactive programme of climate action initiatives with a significant expansion of activity in 2023 provided for, including the preparation of a new Climate Action Plan, the commissioning of the Tallaght District Heating Scheme, a comprehensive study on options for the decarbonisation of our fleet, a pilot study around solar panels on our community buildings, a similar study on a solar project on Arthurstown landfill and the roll out of Phase 1 of our plans for Electric Vehicle (EV) charging infrastructure.
- The economic development of the county is a core objective which we continually progress through projects and programmes funded through our annual budget. In 2023 these include further investment in our Town and Village Programme, most notably an additional €500,000 for Clondalkin village enhancements, €500,000 for the next phase of the N81 landscaping project at the Old Bawn junction, the continuation of the €1m Business Support Fund, €1.25m to support tourism projects including the Dublin Mountains Visitor Centre and the Rathfarnham Castle Stables projects, €500,000 towards the completion of Tallaght Stadium and a further €1m towards the Tallaght Heritage Centre. The 12th Lock Economic Development Strategy will be brought to Council in Q1 of 2023 and €1.5m has been provided to underpin "kickstart" projects on Council owned land, with an emphasis on enterprise, innovation and the arts.

- Population growth creates demand for new community facilities. The 2023 Budget places a continued emphasis on provision the funding of community infrastructure, including an additional €1.5m for library development, €1m for the development of Citywest Community Centre, €500,000 for St Cuthberts Park, €300,000 each to start implementing plans for Jobstown and Quarryvale Parks, an additional €500,000 for Whitestown Stream and €1m towards the Astro Pitch Programme.

- The Council has in recent years taken on vastly increased responsibilities across areas such as planning, housing, climate action, the maintenance of new facilities in addition to the requirement to support an expanding population. In this context and the need to continuously improve service quality, additional financial support has been included to increase staff resources.

A comprehensive organisational capacity study and workforce plan was completed to inform future staff investment. In summary, an additional 100 staff are required across the organisation over the next two years. To support the implementation of this workforce plan, an additional €2.9m has been provided to support additional employment in 2023.

- The continued support and voluntary effort of our communities is critical to the wellbeing of the county. As in previous years circa. €3m in community grants and financial assistance schemes have been provided, as well as additional supports for sports, community centres, arts, libraries, social inclusion, age friendly initiatives and childhood development. An additional €500,000 has been provided to support community centres, while €300,000 has been provided to support initiatives arising from the planned publication of our first Local Sports Strategy next year.

The Budget as presented is progressive and mindful of the challenges ahead, including resourcing and cost increases associated with inflation. It seeks to protect and enhance service delivery, promote economic development, accelerate community provision with due regard to national priorities and the commitments of our five-year Corporate Plan.
